

What is NEC ?

Aim of the Session :

- ❖ To raise awareness, in a balanced way, of the NEC family of contracts as a suitable form of contract which helps the good project management of contracts.
- ❖ Having done this, it is up to participants whether to learn more and / or use it.

Agenda

- ❖ The development of the family.
- ❖ Other aspects of Flexibility
- ❖ Clarity & Simplicity
- ❖ Stimulus to Good Project Management
- ❖ Question & Answers / Discussion

These are the 3 main objectives of the drafters of NEC in terms of what they wanted to achieve compared with other standard conditions of contract.

At the end of each section, we look at 'what the critics say' to provide balance.

As with all courses, this can be on NEC3 only, NEC3 with changes to 4th edition highlighted or purely on NEC4.

Course Tutor : Dr Jon Broome, BEng PhD MAPM MIOd leading edge projects consulting ltd

Duration : 1 to 2 hours depending on client wishes

What previous attendees said :

"Very informative and Jon's style and knowledge makes it easy to listen to what some might consider a dry subject."

"a fact-packed briefing provided by the enthusiastic and practical Dr Jon Broome, probably too modest to describe himself as a la-di-da expert, even with a PhD on applying the NEC 3 family of contracts! I like to think I can navigate myself around a contract and was a little tolerant about attending the event...by jove, what a useful refresher and frankly deep learning experience for me – the keen focus on commercial relationships was energising."
